David Hall

American Global Names David Hall as Chief Financial Officer

Industry experience, impressive skillsets and a strategic, forward-thinking mindset will help Hall shape the financial future of American Global as they move into their next phase of growth and expansion.

Jericho, NY - American Global, one of the largest privately held insurance and surety construction brokerage firms in North America, is pleased to announce that David Hall has been named their Chief Financial Officer (CFO). As a proven and effective leader, David brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise in a variety of operational, strategic and financial capacities.

With more than a decade of experience in the Property & Casualty insurance industry, David has developed core competencies in budget & forecast management, business intelligence & KPIs, compliance & audit, and process optimization, among others. His reputation as an innovator - leveraging data and key metrics for better business impacts – is surpassed only by his successful track-record of incubating, integrating, and executing big ideas. Prior to joining American Global, David spent the majority of his career at a large publicly traded broker, serving as a financial analyst, strategist and most recently, global finance leader.

David's passion for continuous improvement and his ability to navigate change, will help lead American Global into its second decade of growth and expansion. American Global CEO Michael Marino commented, saying, "We are thrilled to welcome David Hall as our CFO at this critical moment in American Global's history. His commitment to innovative thinking and our shared vision for success make him an ideal leader to help drive our financial strategy forward."

COO David Marino also noted that Hall's prior cross-border broking and financial experience will be of particular relevance as American Global "continues to expand our business and capabilities, both domestically and internationally."

"I am honored to be joining this dynamic firm at such a pivotal time in their growth journey," said Hall. "We will build on current momentum and write the next exciting chapter together. I look forward to enjoying even greater success with the broader American Global team, our carrier partners, and the clients we serve."

As American Global welcomes our incoming CFO, we also wish to acknowledge the contributions of Larry Esposito who, for the last six years, led our finance team and built the foundation that helped propel American Global to its current standing. During his tenure as CFO, Larry guided American Global through a period of incredible growth and increasing complexity, including geographic expansion throughout the US, Canada and Europe. Michael Marino shared the following, "My gratitude for Larry's commitment to American Global is immense. He joined our company in the very early stages, bringing structure and discipline to a growing finance department that was critical to supporting our growth, which positioned us well for the future. We thank Larry for his continued support during this transitional period as we continue to work together until his upcoming and well-earned retirement!"
